Hello

I don't have a desktop computer so can't answer feedback on a pdf. So I'm popping my thought here.

I'm in favour of the plan and think it's a good idea. My only recommendation is to have more consideration for ways to reduce speeding cars and anti social driving. New builds have thinner and curvier roads and speed limit signs. Speeding isn't easy to do.

The existing roads from Hellingly to Hailsham have schools on them. They're wide, fairly straight and fairly flat. Cars are frequently seen driving at very high speeds. I'd like this to be addressed. Hawks Road has no signs to say it's 30mph for example. The Ersham road gets clogged up both ways and drivers are often driving at high speeds along it

My concern is that these roads are like a second bypass. It's very worrying

Thanks
