Hello John

I have just picked up a flyer re the above.
In answer to the first paragraph, no I have not received any information about the above. I was aware, I think, of a meeting called at short notice recently (probably the one you mentioned on 11th February), but otherwise nothing.
My family (amongst many others I am sure) are seriously concerned about the impact of yet another mass-build in our town. This is on top of the Eastbourne Road development.

This once-lovely town is being ruined by over-development; Prescott is now thankfully history, but why are we suffering here still from his legacy of overloading the south-east with new-build targets?

Aside from this, the growing population is already straining much of the infrastructure to the limit; try parking almost anywhere by late morning on a weekday, including the Leisure Centre.See how long it takes to navigate through the High Street, and what about other services such as schools, utilities etc?

Wealden seem to be acting almost evasively in rubber-stamping these developments to tick target boxes, but why not challenge the targets, and more importantly, be much more open with the electorate on the issues in question?

We support fully your initiative to re-open this 'consultation'!
